The royal ground floor space allows for a big dining table for family dinners and large sofas for watching television and relaxation. The four double glass doors and two windows let in a great amount of natural light to fully enjoy this comfortable space.

The wooden internal staircase leads you to the first floor where you find three bedrooms with each an en-suite full bathroom, and a spare room which would be a great office, workshop or extra bedroom with an en-suite toilet.

The massive granite stone walls ensure a natural insulation and the roof has roof mate insulation and the ceiling has a layer of aluminium bubble insulation for extra comfort. The house is currently heated by a large wood burner and hot water via solar water boiler.

The Guest House

The existence of this second house offers a variety of opportunities. Do you want to have your parents close? Do you have plans to purchase this property with two families? Would you like to set up a tourism business? It is all possible with this extra 2-bedroom house. The ground floor is ample with living room and kitchen with oven and gas cooker. It also features a Toshiba air conditioning unit and woodburner for added comfort in any season of the year. Hot water comes from a solar water boiler. You find the two bedrooms and the bathroom on the first floor by taking the internal staircase. Next to the house there is a support building with bathroom, kitchen counter and a space for a washing machine. A bbq area with bread oven allows you to cater and entertain your guests. There is a walled garden with the house that offers stunning views to the rest of the farm.

Both houses are sold including the furniture.

Electrics, Sewage and Water Supply

The farm is rich of water with its 5 wells (whereof 2 with pump), water mine, and a water stream that runs all year round through the property. The wells are used for irrigation and there is an underground connection between them.

Solar panels provide the farm with electricity and the grid takes over when necessary. Also mains water is connected to the houses. There is a licensed septic system for both houses.

Outside

The entrance is through massive gates and a pathway leads you to the main part of the property. On the way to the house, you find peaceful paddocks with great fenced grazing land, olive trees and almond trees. The 20 hectares are completely walled with beautiful granite stones.

The property's morphology is flat with extended views on all that is yours and the mountains in the back. You find olive trees, eucalyptus, impressive cork oaks, holm oaks, cedar trees and almond trees.

The fact that the farm has an abundance of water, adds great value. With its 5 wells, water cistern, water mine and a water stream, and the connection to the mains, you will never run out of water.

Two large greenhouses with each 1000 m² (50m x 20m) offer a large quantity of shade and protection for cattle. In this same area you also find a royal storage area and workshop. On this side, there is another entrance to the property as well.
